The coming joy of Aquarius
by the Master —, through Benjamin Creme
Share International January/February 2014

When men look back at this time, they will wonder in disbelief at the atrocities and suffering they have tolerated for so long. Some will blame all for punishment and settling of scores. Maitreya, men will find, will caution otherwise. Justice, like sharing and freedom, is divine, He will attest. Retribution is not His way, and leads men back to the past.

When men realize this, they will abandon their longing for revenge and, inspired by Maitreya and His group of Masters, they will tackle the tremendous task of transformation with zeal.

The changes needed, of course, are vast and will have their priorities. Millions now starving and living in penury, or the dislocation of war, will be the first to be released from agony. The principle of Sharing, on whose divine justice the future of this planet rests, will take pride of place. When men take stock of this accomplishment, they will wonder, sadly, why the principle of Sharing took so long to enter their hearts.

Thus will men grow in stature as they contemplate their past errors in the light of the new achievements. Thus will quicken their determination to fashion a new world from a fast fading past.

The Masters will inspire the inauguration of a new approach to living, which all men can share and of which all can be a part. A growing sense of brotherhood and co-operation will bring a new joy to their task. As time proceeds, this new attitude to work and to each other will herald the glory that Aquarius brings.

Problems awaiting action

The Path of Ascent
by the Master —, through Benjamin Creme
Share International March 2014

Within each man and woman sits a God, potential as yet but everlasting. As they go through the experiences of what we call life, they make a journey, which in the end turns out to have been a step towards oneness with that God, realizing the fact of its divinity, realizing that it is the Soul, our Higher Self.

Heretofore, our knowledge of the Soul has come from religious texts. These have left man with the impression that the Soul is distant from himself, something to be recognized and worshipped from afar. As man progresses, however, he comes to understand that the Soul is himself, a higher and purer part of himself, but nevertheless himself. Thus a man progresses, deepening in knowledge of his true being and purpose.

Today, thousands of people are consciously aware of making such a journey; for them life is deepening in meaning, and they search for greater meaning and purpose. Gradually the tempo of their lives changes, and a deeper meaning and purpose consolidates all that they do. Thus do men advance on the journey to perfection, reflecting more and more the divinity and wisdom of the Soul.

Problems facing the world continue to a climax. Most countries today recognize that global warming is the enemy of all. The question which divides the nations is whether and to what extent man is responsible. The wisest course that men can follow is to assume that they are responsible for most of the pressures on the climate and to take all practical measures to rectify the problems. Some nations assuredly are doing so but not all. Our advice is that the actions and non-actions of humanity are responsible for eighty per cent of the problem and that men must, for their own and their children’s sake, spare nothing in its alleviation. Be assured that We will help them but they must play their part.

All in their own way make such a journey, some swiftly and eagerly, others more slowly and less sure of the path. But all eventually pass through the various gates which mark their progress on the way. Today this journey is trodden by millions who know not that the path exists but nevertheless answer the call of their Soul, and enter thereon. They sense the needs of the time and seek to meet these needs, and so play their part.

Knowingly or not they are responding to the call from Maitreya through their Souls to enter the fray, and to replenish this world with their ardour and courage. Their efforts, they will find, have not been in vain.
Save our Planet!

Uruguay: electric public transport

Uruguay is planning to gradually replace conventional vehicles with electric power in its public transport system. The government is currently assessing the costs and benefits of the shift with tests showing running costs of electric buses can be six- to eight-fold less than for diesel-fuelled buses. Half the country’s 3.3 million people who live in the capital of Montevideo will benefit from a fleet of electric buses.

Transport consumes one-third of the country’s energy resources. Ramón Méndez, the national energy director reports: “Over $2 billion a year are spent on fuel.” So measures taken “in this sector could mean hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in savings for the country”. Electric vehicles “are the way ahead for the world in general and Uruguay in particular,” he said. (Source: IPS)

The initiative is part of Uruguay’s energy policy, which aims to replace half the country’s energy mix from conventional fuels in Uruguay: an electric bus costs $500,000 and a car $60,000, but the operating and maintenance costs are only 10 per cent of those for diesel motors. The electric vehicles function with a bank of lithium iron phosphate batteries, which are biodegradable and do not include heavy metals. When fully charged, the cars and buses have ranges of between 300 and 250 kilometres respectively.

World energy use threat to water supplies

The world’s growing demand for energy is a threat to fresh water supplies – according to a United Nations report released in March 2014. Water is used in the extraction of shale gas, to cultivate biofuels, for cooling in coal-fired power stations – all technologies heavily dependent on the use of fresh water.

“Demand for energy and fresh water will increase significantly in the coming decades” UN agencies warned in the World Water Development Report. “This increase will present big challenges and strain resources in nearly all regions.”

Within 15 years the world will need 40 per cent more water and 50 per cent more energy than now, said the report. Water resources are already under pressure from factors such as rising population, intensive and often exploitative agricultural practices, pollution, floods, droughts, heat waves and generally extreme weather conditions linked to global warming.

At present some 770 million of the world’s 7 billion people now lack access to safe drinking water.

Benjamin Creme answers

Q. (1) Is Maitreya still giving television interviews in Russia? A. (1) No. Maitreya has his first television interview in China (as of 27 May).

Q. What was the total in Russia? A. 51.

Q. Please be so kind as to give an overview showing how many interviews Maitreya has given in each country so far.

A. USA: 29 interviews (January 2010-January 2011); Mexico: 14 (January-September 2011); Brazil: 41 (September-2011-January 2013); Russia: 51 (January 2013 to May 2014); China: 1 (May 2014). A total of 136 interviews so far.

Q. Has Maitreya been present in Kiev at the demonstrations? A. Yes.

Q. Has the Master in Moscow been involved in any way in the current situation in Russia and Ukraine to try to de-escalate the tension? A. Not directly.

Q. Can we hope that people power in Russia calling for peace will influence matters? A. Yes.

Q. Have any of Maitreya’s interviews been broadcast (as audio files) via radio? A. Yes.

Q. (1) To what extent are people in Russia and nearby countries passing on to others the fact that they have heard ‘great ideas from a very impressive and wise man’?

Q. (2) Have Maitreya’s interviews started ‘a buzz’? (3) Are people excitedly discussing Maitreya’s ideas?

A. (1) To a considerable extent. (2) Yes. (3) Yes, some are.

Q. How many people does Maitreya have behind him now? A. He can count on nearly 2 billion.

Q. (1) Are there any countries combating climate change at present? (2) Are some countries making more advanced in their use of any research into alternative energy sources?

A. (1) Yes, countries like China, and some European countries (such as the UK, Germany, Scandinavia). (2) Yes, very much so.

Q. I have to fly to a lot in connection with family affairs and on business; I feel guilty but at the moment it is unavoidable. I always pay extra towards some ecological fund or scheme. I guess it’s not really enough, is it? What else can I do to offset my carbon footprint?

A. Join Friends of the Earth or other such organizations.

Q. In my local supermarket I can buy fresh green beans from Egypt, Senegal and Morocco and other produce, which may or may not be in season where I live. I can’t help wondering whether poor people in those countries have access to fresh vegetables. On the other hand, if we buy their produce does it support the economy of such countries?

A. There is a beginning of understanding of the necessity for sharing in many countries of the world to a greater or lesser degree. Eventually, and I believe fairly soon, this will broaden to be seen as the number one priority in the world.

Q. Your Master’s most recent article talks of ‘the collapse of the world economy’ and says that this event will have an effect on how war is viewed; your Master also mentions a “struggle for survival”. What would trigger such a collapse?

A. The stock-market collapse.

Q. (1) Many economists are predicting a stock-market crash in 2014. Are they right? (2) And is this the crash referred to by your Master in his article in the April issue of Share International?

Q. Is Maitreya still waiting for the crash to occur before He emerges more?

A. (1) More likely the following year. (2) Yes – it is more a continuation of the crash that started in 2008. (3) Maitreya’s emergence is a question of the readiness of humanity to respond to His ideas. Such a crash may well speed the process.

Q. Will the Space Brothers, using their UFOs, change the trajectory of asteroids, by light technology, away from the direction of Earth? A. Yes, if they seem dangerous.

Q. Will it take Maitreya to solve the situation in Syria? A. No, it must be solved by humanity.

Q. Do you know if Pope Francis is being impressed or inspired by a Master in his various speeches against greed, the powerful economic powers of the world, and against the pure form of capitalism that still is so attractive to many rich sections of society?

A. He is inspired by Maitreya.

Q. What do the Masters think of people trying to find partners via the internet? A. They are not concerned.

Q. Is it more likely than not that if people have a karmic bond they would tend to select their karmic partner on a dating site by an intuitive response or a sense of recognition?

A. Yes, probably – if the proposed partner were also on the site.

A photograph taken during a Christian event at Cedar Falls, Iowa, USA, in 2013 shows an ‘angel’ appearing on the stage. A Southern Baptist pastor attending the all-male Promise Keepers’ conference took a photograph on his iPad as the band One Body were playing ‘Jesus, take all of me’. David Jesse, a spokesman for Promise Keepers, explained: “[The pastor] looked at the screen and saw a strange glow on the stage that sent chills down his spine.” It showed a radiant, glowing, white figure appearing on stage with the band. He took a second picture of the stage. This also showed the glowing figure. The pastor, “was overwhelmed with emotion as he was convinced that what he saw was an angel. He immediately showed the pictures to our programme director.”

The Christian group is well-known for its conferences calling on men to return to God. Their Facebook page said of the day’s event: “Something supernatural took place in Cedar Falls.” (Source: wnd.com) (Benjamin Creme’s Master confirms that the “tall man dressed in white” was Maitreya.)

Dear Editor,

I had a dream a few years ago that I followed an eagle that led me to a sweet white-haired man sitting in a chair. The man began talking and I exploded with questions. In response the man told me to stop talking so much and listen for the answers he seeks if I want to receive them. Soon afterward I glanced down at the ground and saw perfectly formed the name of Maitreya. Having only heard the term in passing I looked up online and when I saw the face of Mr. Creme, I got chills. I’ve had many phenomenons throughout my life, that have recently begun increasing. I feel like there is a purpose for me here that is on the cusp of being discovered. The days are passing, Mr. Creme is getting older and I feel I can no longer ignore this dream. I’m not sure if there is any insight that you can give me, but there can be no communication if I do not initiate it. So, I’ve followed the eagle so to speak and am ready to listen if there is anything that needs to be said.

E.K., Longview, Texas, USA.

The information you need is all on the Share International website. The “sweet white-haired man” was me, Benjamin Creme (I don’t know about the “sweet”!) and the dream was put into your mind by Maitreya.)

Eight-year-old Saadia Al Jaharani baffles Yemeni medical experts as she weeps small stones. Her father, Mohammad Saleh Al Jaharani, said that his daughter suddenly began producing stones in late January 2014. A YouTube video by Azal TV shows the girl’s eyes producing tiny gravel-like stones from underneath her eyelids. No stones appear when she is asleep and most come out in the afternoon and evening. They do not hurt and Saadia lives a normal life. Her eyes sometimes produce as many as 100 stones a day. Dear Editor,

Some 15 to 20 years ago, I had a couple of experiences I would like to share with you.

(1) In one of these my life was saved from a stupid error of my own doing. I was living near Exeter and needed a replacement tyre for my car. I visited the breakers yard one cold and wet afternoon around dusk. The yard was muddy and cars were stacked one on top of another. I looked everywhere but the only tyre to fit that I could find was fixed to its rim and flat on the ground under the empty saucepan! It must have been on for more than 6-7 hours, but the saucepan looked normal without getting red at all!

Then I went into the kitchen, to find, to my shock, the gas was still on under the empty saucepan! I turned around and tried to turn off the kitchen stove, but no one answered.

Without the alarming pain and telephone call, I might have caused a fire! There is no doubt that I was saved by divine intervention. I am truly grateful for Masters intervening to protect me from causing a disaster not only to our house but to the neighbourhood.

T. I., Tokyo, Japan.

All the great religions posit the idea of a further revelation to be given by a future Teacher. Christians hope for the return of the Christ, Buddhists look for Maitreya Buddha, while Muslims await the Imam Mahdi, Hindus for the reincarnation of Krishna, and Jews the Messiah.

Essentially all these are different names for the same Being – the Lord Maitreya, the World Teacher, the Head of our planet’s Spiritual Hierarchy – and look for His imminent return now. With Maitreya come humanity’s Elder Brothers, the Masters of Wisdom, enlightened Beings Who have inspired all great human achievements age after age, from behind the scenes.

In July 1977, Maitreya emerged from His centre in the Himalayas, “like a thief in the night”. Since then, He has lived in London as an ordinary man concerned with modern problems – political, economic, social, spiritual, environmental – and as a spokesman in the Pakistani-Indian community. He is not a religious leader, but an educator in the broadest sense, pointing the way out of the present world crisis. According to esoteric teaching, Maitreya manifested Himself five years ago in Palestine by overshadowing His disciple Jesus – now the Master Jesus.

Maitreya’s spiritual teaching: Maitreya comes to teach humanity “the art of Self-realisation.” The first steps are “honesty of mind, sincerity of spirit and detachment”. Major social concerns, reflected in His list of priorities: an adequate supply of the right food, adequate housing and shelter for all, healthcare and education as a universal right. His social message can be summarized in a few words: “Share and save the world.”

On 11 June 1988, Maitreya appeared miraculously, “out of the blue”, at a prayer/healing meeting in Nairobi, Kenya. He was photographed addressing thousands of people who instantly recognised Him as the Christ. Since then teachings and miracle signs have prepared the public for His emergence. In August 2001 Maitreya manifested His miraculous “handprint”, given to invoke His healing and help.

Since December 2008 sightings of Maitreya’s ‘star’ have been reported worldwide, heralding His imminent emergence. In January 2010 Benjamin Creme announced that Maitreya’s first television interview had taken place, in the U.S. To date He has given interviews on television in the USA, Mexico, Brazil, Russia and most recently China. This process will continue until His advice and solutions to humanity’s problems are known throughout the world.

Maitreya expects this approach to lead to the Day of Declaration, when He will mentally ‘overshadow’ all of humanity simultaneously and call for sharing, justice and peace. Each of us will hear His words inwardly, telepathically, in our own language, and will know that the World Teacher is now among us.

How you can help

Many who hear about Maitreya’s presence in the world ask “How can I help Him?” The most important thing is to share this information about His return with as many people as possible. Perhaps the simplest way to do this is by distributing copies of this newspaper.

In 1972, under His Master’s direction, he began a period of arduous and intensive training as a result of which his telepathic contact with His Master became, and remains, continuous and immediate. This relationship has given him access to constant up-to-date information on the progress of Maitreya’s emergence and the total conviction necessary to present that information to a sceptical world. Over the years His lecture tours have taken him to Western and Eastern Europe, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Mexico and the US.

Creme’s books have been translated and published in numerous languages throughout the world by groups responding to his message. He is also co-editor of Share International, a monthly magazine circulating in 70 countries, extracts from which make up this newspaper, The Emergence Quarterly.

Creme receives no remuneration for this work and makes no claims about his own spiritual status. His task, Creme says, has been to make the initial approach to the public, to help create a climate of hope and expectancy into which Maitreya can emerge without infringing our free will.

Transmission Meditation

Meditation is, depending on the type of meditation, a more or less scientific means of contacting the soul, and of eventually becoming at one with the soul. That is the basic purpose of meditation of any kind. Transmission Meditation is a way of serving the world. Unlike many other forms of meditation, it attracts a group of people to those only people who those who desire to serve.

The Masters have at Their disposal tremendous spiritual energies. A major part of the Masters’ work is to distribute these energies in the world to produce the effects, the fulfillment of the Plan of Evolution which They know to be envisaged for this planet. Transmission Meditation groups act as “sub-stations”. There are several hundred Transmission groups world-wide and they meet regularly at a particular time and day. This can be once, twice or three times a week. The group meets and sounds together, aloud, the Great Invocation, which has been given to humanity for this purpose.

This Invocation was released to the world in 1945 by Maitreya to give us a technique for invoking the energies which would transform the world and prepare for His coming. By the sounding of this great mantram with the attention focused on the ajna centre (between the eyebrows), a conduit is formed between the group and the Hierarchy of Masters. Through that conduit the Masters send their energies.

In Transmission Meditation, your chakras (energy centres) are stimulated in a way that would be altogether impossible otherwise. This work leads to very profound changes in the individual. Most people, within six months or a year, realize the changes in themselves, recognize that they are becoming a different, a better person. They may find that they have more discipline, more determination, more consistency in their approach to work. A large number of people receive healing, spontaneously, during the Transmission.

Transmission Meditation is a safe, scientific, non-denominational activity. It will not interfere with any other religious or spiritual practice. While many people who believe in the Christ’s reappearance participate in Transmission Meditation, such belief is by no means necessary to serve in this way.

THE EMERGENCE OF MAITREYA

The Baha’i News Agency
